Plovdiv is Bulgaria's second largest city, after Sofia. It is the administrative headquarters of the Plovdiv area in southern Bulgaria and three municipalities: Plovdiv, Marica and Rhodope. It is a city of a great historical continuity - from ancient times it is the largest city and capital of Upper Thrace. Plovdiv is a very important economic, cultural, educational and transportation centre of this part of Bulgaria and one of the oldest cities in Europe. It is situated in the southern part of the Plovdiv valley, on the banks of the Maritsa River. It is a city of seven hills (up to 250 meters, now has only six hills, but Bulgarians still called it the city on seven hills). A town with a lot of antique objects like the amphitheatre, the Roman Odeon, Roman Stadium, the archeological complex Eirene and others.

Sofia is the capital and largest city of Bulgaria. Sofia is located at the bottom of Vitosha Mountain in the western part of the country. It occupies a strategic position at the centre of the Balkan Peninsula. It remained a relatively small settlement until 1879, when it was declared the capital of Bulgaria. Sofia is the 15th largest city in the European Union with a population of around 1.3 million. Sofia has been ranked by the Globalization and World Cities Research Network as a Beta- city. Many of the major universities, cultural institutions, and businesses of Bulgaria are centered in Sofia.
