Rhodes is an island in Greece, located in the eastern Aegean Sea. It is the largest of the Dodecanese islands in terms of both land area and population. The capital town of the island and seat of the municipality is Rhodes. It is located northeast of Crete, southeast of Athens and just off the Anatolian coast of Turkey. Rhodes' nickname is the island of the Knights. Historically, Rhodes was famous worldwide for the Colossus of Rhodes, one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World. This giant bronze statue was documented as once standing at the harbor. It was completed in 280 BC and destroyed in an earthquake in 224 BC. There is no trace to the statue remains until today. The Medieval Old Town of the City of Rhodes has been declared a World Heritage Site. Today, it is one of the most popular tourist destinations in Europe. The capital city of Rhodes is placed within and around the walls of a very well preserved Venetian castle which that was built by the Knights of St. John.
